FLEX Learning Communities

2015 Recommended Fourth Course by Discipline & Major
Course Information may change without notice. Check the FLEX website often for updates.
Current as of July 15, 2015.

Behavioral Sciences

Anthropology, BS:

If you are interested in being an Anthropology major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. ([FLEX 2, 4, 20]).

Select a general education or elective course as your fourth course. Consult with your academic advisor about meeting the Quantitative Reasoning requirement.

Behavioral Science, BS:

If you are interested in being a Behavioral Science major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. ([FLEX 3, 4, 16, 18, 20]).

Select a general education or elective course as your fourth course. Consult with your academic advisor about meeting the Quantitative Reasoning requirement.

Criminology, BS:

If you are interested in being a Criminology major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. ([FLEX 2, 3, 4, 16, 18, 20]).

Select a general education or elective course as your fourth course. Consult with your academic advisor about meeting the Quantitative Reasoning requirement.

Sociology, BS:

If you are interested in being a Sociology major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. ([FLEX 3, 16, 18]).

Select a general education or elective course as your fourth course. Consult with your academic advisor about meeting the Quantitative Reasoning requirement.

Psychology, BS:

If you are interested in being a Psychology major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. ([FLEX 5, 11, 19, 25]).

You may consider registering in PSY 215 as your fourth course. If PSY 215 is not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course.
Business & Public Management

Accounting, BS:

If you are interested in being an Accounting major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider this FLEX Community. [FLEX 27]. Enroll in Math based on placement for your fourth class. If you enroll in a non-Accounting FLEX, enroll in math based on placement for your fourth class. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Business Administration, BS:

If you are interested in being a Business major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider this FLEX Community. [FLEX 28, 31]. Enroll in Math based on placement for your fourth class. If you enroll in a non-Business FLEX, enroll in math based on placement for your fourth class. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Economics, BS:

If you are interested in being an Economics major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 7, 24, 28, 31]. Enroll in Math based on placement for your fourth class. If you enroll in a non-Economics FLEX, enroll in math based on placement for your fourth class. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

International Business & Language, BS:

If you are interested in being an International Business and Language major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community or the community below. [FLEX 28, 31]. Enroll in Math based on placement for your fourth class. If you enroll in a non-International Business & Language FLEX then enroll in math based on placement as your fourth class. Consult with your academic advisor about the best time to enroll in a foreign language course based on placement. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Communications

Broadcasting, BA:

If you are interested in being a Broadcasting major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 22, 24, 25].

You may consider as your fourth course [depending on the LC you select]: JOUR/RDIO/TV 166 or Journalism 100.

If JOUR/RDIO/TV 166 or Journalism 100 are not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Communications, BA:

If you are interested in being a Communications major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 22, 24, 25].

You may consider as your fourth course [depending on the LC you select]: JOUR/RDIO/TV 166 or Journalism 100.

If JOUR/RDIO/TV 166 or Journalism 100 are not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Journalism, BA:

If you are interested in being a Journalism major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 22, 24, 25].

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.
Computer Science

Computer Science/Eng, BS: If you are interested in being a Computer Science major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider the following FLEX Communities. (FLEX 26, 31).

You should consider math based on placement as your fourth course. If you enroll in a different FLEX Community then select as your fourth course: CMPS 218 or 301. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

E-Commerce, BS:

If you are interested in being an E-Commerce major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider FLEX 26, below. (FLEX 26).

You should consider math based on placement as your fourth course. If you enroll in a different FLEX Community then select as your fourth course: CMPS 218. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Education

Child Development, BS:

If you are interested in being a Child Development major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to also enroll in EDUC 253 as your fourth course.

If EDUC 253 is not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Educational Studies, BA:

If you are interested in being an Educational Studies major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. (FLEX 6, 8, 14).

These FLEXs offer students who are interested in teaching with a good opportunity to explore the profession while earning elective credit. Check with the academic advisor about specific major requirements.

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Fine Arts

Art, BA:

If you are interested in being an Art major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider these FLEX Communities. (FLEX 20, 29).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Art History, BA:

If you are interested in being an Art History major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider these FLEX Communities. (FLEX 20, 29).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.
Music, BA:

If you are interested in being a Music major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 5, 14].

Music majors are encouraged to select Music Theory I (MUS 230) as their fourth course. If MUS 230 is not available then consider math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Photography, BA:

If you are interested in being a Photography major you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 2, 21, 23, 29, 32].

NOTE: IF you DO NOT choose one of these communities, you must take PHOTO 230 as your fourth course (Submit the agreement form for Photography). Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Theatre, BA:

If you are interested in being a Theatre major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 1, 4].

NOTE: You may consider as your fourth or fifth course (depending on the LC you select): THAR 100 or 120 or 200 or 210 or 212 or 280 or math, based on placement. If theater or math sections are not available then consider a general education or elective courses for your fourth course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Humanities

English, BA:

If you are interested in being an English major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community. Consider an English introductory course as your fourth selection.

If English is not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

French, BA:

If you are interested in being a French major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to also enroll in a French course, based on placement, as your fourth course.

If French is not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Liberal Arts, BA:

If you are interested in being a Liberal Arts major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to also enroll in LA 200 as your fourth course.

If LA 200 is not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.
Spanish, BA:

If you are interested in being a Spanish major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to also enroll in a Spanish course such as the one below based on placement. (FLEX 8).

If you select a different FLEX Learning Community consider as your fourth course a Spanish course or math based on placement. If math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Philosophy, BA:

If you are interested in being a Philosophy major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider the FLEX Community below. (FLEX 7).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Religion, BA:

If you are interested in being a Religion major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community or the course listed below. (FLEX II).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Religion/Philosophy, BA:

If you are interested in being a Religion/Philosophy major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community.

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Comparative Literature, BA:

If you are interested in being a Comparative Literature major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community.

You are also encouraged to enroll in one upper division literature course in FREN or SPAN or any foreign language course, based on placement, as your fourth course to reach level adequate to register in one upper division literature course in FREN or SPAN at a later time.

If the above stated options are not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Creative Writing, BA:

If you are interested in being a Creative Writing major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community. Complete your registration by enrolling in WRT 201.

If WRT 201 is not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.
Kinesiology

Athletic Training, BS:

If you are interested in being an Athletic Training major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 12, 13].

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Kinesiology Generalist, BS:

If you are interested in being a KINE major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 12, 13].

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Kinesiology (Phys Ed, Teacher Ed), BS:

If you are interested in being a KINE Education major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 12, 13].

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Natural Sciences

Biology, BA/BS:

If you are interested in being a Biology major, you must select a FLEX Learning Community below based on appropriate placement. [FLEX 9, 10, 12, 13, 18].

NOTE: FLEXs with General Biology or General Chemistry will be for Biology majors who place into Math 104 or higher on La Verne placement examination and completed high school chemistry.

100-Level Biology and Chemistry are for Biology majors who place into Math 102 or lower and/or did not complete high school chemistry or for students who are interested in the Biology, Chemistry, or Physics and have not completed high school chemistry. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Chemistry, BA/BS:

If you are interested in being a Chemistry major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. [FLEX 9, 10, 30].

NOTE: Chemistry majors should register in math based on placement for their fourth course.

PLEASE SEE BIOLOGY Major "NOTE" if you are considering a Biology major. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Mathematics, BA/BS:

If you are interested in being a mathematics major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community. However, please note that Math 170 and Math 172 do not fulfill any requirements for the mathematics major.

The mathematics program recommends that your fourth course as a mathematics majors be the highest level mathematics course that you place into. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.
Physics, BA/BS:

If you are interested in being a Physics major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community. The recommended “4th Course” depends on your math placement score. If you place out of Calculus I, then the physics program recommends you taking PHYS 203 Physics I: Mechanics. Otherwise, the physics program recommends you take the appropriate math class based on the math placement score. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Social Sciences

History, BA:

If you are interested in being a History major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider these FLEX Communities. (FLEX 22, 23).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

International Studies, BA:

If you are interested in being an International Studies major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider History 101 as your fourth course.

If History 101 is not available then select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Legal Studies, BS:

If you are interested in being a Legal Studies major, you may select ANY FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to also enroll in math based on placement, elective course, or general education. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Political Science, BA:

If you are interested in being a Political Science major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider this FLEX Community. (FLEX 22).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Social Science, BA:

If you are interested in being a Social Science major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but you are encouraged to select the one below. (FLEX 21).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.

Speech Communications, BA:

If you are interested in being a Speech Communications major, you may select any FLEX Learning Community, but are encouraged to consider one of these FLEX Communities. (FLEX 15, 16, 32).

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.
International Students (w/ WRT 109 Placement):

International Students who place into Writing 109 or below MUST enroll in this FLEX Learning Community. [FLEX 17].

Select math as your fourth course based on placement; if math is not available then consider a general education or elective course. Consult with your academic advisor if you have questions.